You have the right to view these pages and to copy and/or print out information contained within the website for use by yourself in relation to making use of facilities offered by the college. You have no other rights of use for information or images contained within this website.

The college makes every effort to ensure that the information contained here is accurate. However, we recommend that you always call or e-mail to check before making any commitments.

Conditions relating to course information

The college prospectuses and website are intended as a general guide to LCMS courses and facilities and form no part of any contract between you and the college except as provided below.

The prospectus and website are prepared in advance of the academic year to which they relate. Although reasonable steps are taken by LCMS to provide the courses and services described, the college cannot guarantee the provision of any course or facility. Any course may be altered or withdrawn owing to circumstances beyond the London College of Management Studies' control. Such circumstances include (but are not limited to) industrial action, lack of demand, departure of key personnel, change in Government policy, withdrawal or reduction of funding, change of Law.

Enrolment at the London College of Management Studies is subject to your acceptance of the conditions of enrolment, which include (but are not limited to) your agreeing to be bound by the college's regulations.

If you would like to receive a copy of the conditions of enrolment and/or the college's regulations, please write to:

Terms and conditions

The college would like to draw your attention to the following terms which will be incorporated into any student contract which exists following your acceptance of Worcester's offer to you:

The college takes reasonable care to provide the courses and facilities described in the documentation. However, courses may be altered or withdrawn at any stage owing to circumstances beyond the University's control. Such circumstances include (but are not limited to) industrial action, lack of demand, departure of key personnel, change in Government policy, withdrawal or reduction of funding, change of Law.

The college will accept no liability obligations if the courses described in the prospectus are not provided. However, LCMS will take such steps as are available to it to minimise the effect of any alteration or withdrawal of a course. Such steps may include the offer of a place on an alternative course.

The decision the London College of Management Studies takes about your application is made on the basis of the information that you have provided on your application form. If we find that you have made a false statement, or have left out significant information, we reserve the right either to withdraw or amend our offer. Similarly, the decision that LCMS makes about your fee status (whether you pay Home or Overseas fees) is taken on the basis of the information that you have provided. If we find that you have made a false statement, given ambiguous information or have left out significant information, we reserve the right to amend your fee status or withdraw our offer.

The college welcomes comments on its courses from students' parents and sponsors. However, LCMS's contracts with its students do not confer benefits on third parties for the purposes of the Contract (Rights of Third Parties) Act 1999.

Data Protection

On this website visitors can submit information on forms to request further details (such as a prospectus) about the London College of Management Studies. The information supplied on these forms will be entered onto a database and used by the college for the purpose of supplying a prospectus and other information related to your enquiry, and occasionally, information about other opportunities for study at the London College of Management Studies. We may also ask you to complete questionnaires about your experience in your contact with the college. Information about you may also be used for internal monitoring purposes but not in a way which will involve revealing the identity of any individual. The information will not be made available outside the college.
